RESPONSE TO EMAIL RE AVERY 2/13/2012

Earl,

Shoshone County's GIS Analyst, Terry Silveus; Construction Manager, Greg Rapp; and I have put together three documents. I know these are more sites than you requested, but I believe it is very important to make the right decisions.

1. Large aerial of St. Joe Drainage along FH-50 with potential rock sources identified by number.
2. Individual aerial of each site at a larger scale.
3. Listed potential rock source number with land owner, contact, haul distance to Avery and lat/long of each site.

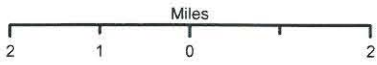

Shoshone County Public Works wishes to be involved with the pit source acquisition process. Our potential future material needs for flood fights and maintenance has been inhibited by lack of access to rock sources above Calder which in turn has caused Shoshone County higher project costs in the past.

Sincerely,

Public Works Director
